

SYNOPSIS

The HYAH had a CPD budget of £10,000 for the period 2014-2016. The initial concept behind the allocation was to enhance the skills of the HYAH consortium in relation to their arts and youth work practice. In 2016, the fund was opened to external individuals (young people 16+, students and practitioners) as a mechanism for strengthening the quality of youth arts delivery across the region and across art forms.

The GoSeeShare scheme was created to increase exposure to, and experience of, arts activity. Open to individuals, schools, youth groups and organisations, GoSeeShare looked to tackle the geographical challenges of the region through supporting ticket and travel costs to attend performances, shows, workshops and exhibitions that would otherwise be inaccessible.

DIRECT LINKS WITH TIME TO SHINE:

Theme PROGRESSION – Nurturing creativity and talent

Principle No 4 –
Be proactive in the use of digital technology

Principle No 6 –
Tackle inequalities

Principle No 7 – Continually strive for quality improvement

Case Study: Continued Professional Development & GoSeeShare Scheme

AIMS

1. To enable young people and practitioners to access skills development and arts experience opportunities regardless of financial or geographical circumstance
2. To inspire young people and practitioners to share their creative experiences with others
3. To support employability and innovation through providing support and advice in relation to available opportunities
4. To increase the number of young people exposed to both local and national creative, multi-arts activity

Charleston Academy GoSeeShare trip to The Turner Prize in Glasgow.

Watch their video response here:

<https://vimeo.com/144489831>

FORMAT

- 54 people attended four training courses offered by the HYAH. These included: Bronze and Silver Arts Award training; a full day course delivered in Inverness by Arts & Business Scotland giving “An Introduction to Being a Board Member”; training in FinalCut Pro editing software; and a Professional Development Award in Youth Work delivered by our HYAH consortium partner, Youth Highland.
- Individuals could apply to the HYAH for up to £200 towards CPD of their choice in any art form or skills to enhance their practice; 16 applications were supported and included Conducting at the Royal Conservatoire, private dance lessons and screen printing courses at the Highland Print Studio.
- 48 GoSeeShare trips were supported including visits to Kelvingrove Art Gallery and Museum, Eden Court, National Theatre LIVE screenings and Edinburgh International Book Festival.

